Oil Burning Units

LEVITTOWN, July 2—Following correspondence between Duke Sloan, of 313 Lakeside drive and Robert L. Grapes, chief inspector of the Middle Department of Fire Underwriters, a conference is being arranged to discuss oil burner installations here.

A Levitt & Sons publicity representative is inviting Sloan, Grapes, a representative of the heater manufacturer, and a Levitt engineer to meet and discuss the subject.

In a letter to the chief inspector, Sloan made the following report on the burner installations:

"Metallic sheath cable, rated (by manufacturers) at 167 degrees, F., contacts boiler and/or pipes, also box on side of boiler.

"Property owners have been instructed in public press and verbally by service men, to bleed air from hot water system until water escapes from valves on top of boiler.

"Oil has been found on cable due to: (a) carelessness in following oiling instructions, (b) result of service work by service men.

"In thousands of instances, jackets covering units are lifted for (a) cleaning, (b) bleeding (c) starting, (d) oiling, (e) inspection.

"Action outlined (above) are generally taken by inexperienced persons. Cables are often found under insulating blanket and or in contact with hot water pipes. In the instance of my own burner, it was so wired that the cable contacts a hot water pipe directly."

A Levitt vice president in charge of heating installations, Irwin G. Jalonie, in a recent statement about the burners, said:

"Every installation is checked and approved by the FHA and Veterans Administration who would not insure mortgages on the Levittown houses if they were not approved. Fire underwriters inspect the installations, and all wiring in the house."

The offer of the wage increase and paid hospitalization benefits was made by Edward W. Neibauer, president of the company, at a mediation conference staged by William MacDougall, state mediator.

James Gallagher, president of Local 282, told the press after the members approved of the company offer: "The union is happy that the state mediator brought the company and union together and averted a work stoppage which would have greatly inconvenienced the public."

He pointed out that dire consequences would have resulted despite the fact the union members planned to operate a jitney service with their private automobiles, without charge, to serve the public, without charge, to serve the public.

Raccagno Appeal
Dismissed By Zoning Board

The Bristol Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment last night rendered a decision in the controversial appeal of John Raccagno, owner of a property at 344 Jefferson ave., who on June 8, at a public hearing, had been directed to cease violating a zoning regulation. Last night the board dismissed the appeal and ordered Raccagno to cease operating apartments in a residential zone as rooming-houses.

The Zoning Board, consisting of Maxwell J. Gordon, chairman; Stephen P. Mihoudas and Dominick Roberto, said Raccagno had applied last March for a permit to remodel a dwelling house into two apartments; that on March 30, he was informed by the Borough Solicitor, John Pullam, that rooming-houses were not permitted in R-3 districts, and that any attempt to use the property as a rooming-house would result in legal action.

On April 20, Raccagno was advised he was violating the zoning ordinance and ordered to desist. On April 27, the zoning officer, Livingston Joyce, instituted criminal proceedings before Justice of the Peace Anthony R. Niccol, charging Raccagno with violation of the ordinance. At a hearing, May 8, he was fined $125, and he appealed this conviction in the court of Quarter Sessions. The appeal is now pending.

Pointing out that the Zoning Ordinance prohibits rooming-houses in all residential districts of Bristol Borough, the Zoning Board warned that no violation will be tolerated and appealed to anyone knowing of such violation, or of the proposed establishment of such rooming house, to come forward.

Boro' Engineer
Thanks Public
For 'Cooperation'

The water tanks at Bristol pumping station were reported full again this morning by Borough Engineer Livingston Joyce, who attributed the improved water supply to the cooperation of citizens in not sprinkling their lawns.

He reported the water level at a full 23 feet this morning, in contrast to Tuesday's dangerous low of one foot.

"The people should be patted on the back," Joyce said. "We certainly appreciate the way they avoid wasting water. We'll notify them when it's all right to sprinkle the lawns again."

Burgess I. J. Hetherington declared an emergency Tuesday at 8 p. m. when a sound truck warned citizens of the borough and nearby areas in Bristol twp. to save water. The shortage began after two borough wells went out of service.

Local industries, whose water was cut off at that time, were given water again at 2 a. m. yesterday, Joyce said.

One of the wells, at Bath road, is already back in use, Joyce said. The other, he said, is being replaced with a unit to be shipped from Indiana tomorrow. No progress has been made on a new well at the mouth of the apron, according to Joyce, as the contractors have failed to show up on the job.

In Morrisville, meanwhile, car washing, lawn sprinkling and other "non-essential" water uses also were banned yesterday in an emergency declared by Burgess William Burgess.

The Morrisville Burgess estimated that the shortage will continue there until August 1.

Bannon was driving southwest on Hulmeville road when the bicyclist appeared in his path, Keller said. An embankment prevented the motorist from seeing the boy approach, the officer said.

Bucks County Rescue Squad took Daniel to Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, for treatment of possible fractures of the skull, left leg and ankle.

On their way back to Croydon from the hospital the Rescue Squad ambulance arrived on the scene of a crash involving a truck-tractor and trolley car, at Frankford avenue and Linden street.

One tractor was towing another, when one broke loose and ran into the street car, according to the squad. A driver, Fred Bytheway, Continued on Page Six DOYLESTOWN, July 2 — Judge Edward G. Biester in Common Pleas Court here has authorized a $4,000 compromise settlement action in the case of a 20-year-old Trevoze Heights young man who was injured when he was struck by a car while standing by his own automobile.

George Prince Cole, Jr., 20, son of George P. Cole, Sr., 77, and Irene J. Cole, 50, Clearview avenue, Trevoze Heights, received $982 in his own right. His parents received $2194 which represents the loss of wages their son sustained while recuperating.

The minor-plaintiff, Cole, Jr., was standing beside his car on the Brownsville road, near Langhorne, March 1, 1952, when a car operated by Adolphus V. Walker skidded into Cole because of the snow on the highway and injured him. Cole sustained fractures of two bones in the right leg. Esther Walker has been named a co-defendant in the settlement action.

Cole, Jr., listed as expenditures: Nazareth Hospital, $288.25; Dr. J. Toland, $360; Dr. F. K. Thomas, $69; leg brace, $35; miscellaneous, $40; and damages to the minor plaintiff's car, $31, or a total of $823.25. The minor-son contributes to the support of his parents.

Judge Biester has signed a decree authorizing the final settlement of the case.

Boro' Engineer
Thanks Public
For 'Cooperation'

The water tanks at Bristol pumping station were reported full again this morning by Borough Engineer Livingston Joyce, who attributed the improved water supply to the cooperation of citizens in not sprinkling their lawns.

He reported the water level at a full 23 feet this morning, in contrast to Tuesday's dangerous low of one foot.

"The people should be patted on the back," Joyce said. "We certainly appreciate the way they avoid wasting water. We'll notify them when it's all right to sprinkle the lawns again."

Burgess I. J. Hetherington declared an emergency Tuesday at 8 p. m. when a sound truck warned citizens of the borough and nearby areas in Bristol twp. to save water. The shortage began after two borough wells went out of service.

Local industries, whose water was cut off at that time, were given water again at 2 a. m. yesterday, Joyce said.

One of the wells, at Bath road, is already back in use, Joyce said. The other, he said, is being replaced with a unit to be shipped from Indiana tomorrow. No progress has been made on a new well at the mouth of the apron, according to Joyce, as the contractors have failed to show up on the job. In Morrisville, meanwhile, car washing, lawn sprinkling and other "non-essential" water uses also were banned yesterday in an emergency declared by Burgess William Burgess.

The Morrisville Burgess estimated that the shortage will continue there until August 1.

Boy, 10, Injured
In Cycle-Car Crash
At Cornwells H's.

A ten-year-old cyclist, Daniel W. Day, of Cornwells avenue, Cornwells Heights, suffered head and leg injuries when his bicycle was struck by a car at Cornwells and Hulmeville roads.

The boy was peddling on Cornwells avenue, entering the intersection, according to Officer Herbert Keller, Bensalem twp. Police, when a car operated by Raymond Bannon, 19, Clearview avenue, Cornwells Heights, hit the bicycle. Bannon was driving southwest on Hulmeville road when the bicyclist appeared in his path. Keller said. An embankment prevented the motorist from seeing the boy approach, the officer said.

On their way back to Croydon from the hospital the Rescue Squad ambulance arrived on the scene of a crash involving a truck-tractor and trolley car, at Frankford avenue and Linden street.

One tractor was towing another, when one broke loose and ran into the street car, according to the squad. A driver, Fred Bytheway, Continued on Page Six

SHAPING THE BUDGET

Congressional action on appropriations so far closely follows, even better economy-wise, the Eisenhower revision of the Truman budget for the fiscal year which began July 1. In the effort to achieve a balanced budget or near to it, the revision trimmed the Truman total of $73,200,000,000 for new spending by $9,100,000,000. But another billion of saving is in a fair way of being realized.

Basis for this favorable prospect is furnished by eight appropriations bills already approved by the House. They total $13,800,000,000, which is $1,100,000,000 under the administration figures for the same items and $3,000,000,000 under Truman's. The Senate has passed four appropriations bills with a variance of only $39,400,000 from the companion House bills, indicating that the Senate is also economy minded.

It has been charged that some reductions will be restored by supplemental appropriations later. Even so a good leeway has been established. Final results are mainly obscured by what Congress will do about defense and foreign aid. The President's total for these two categories was $7,300,000,000 less than Truman's. But while Congress may cut the revised defense amount, it is almost certain to cut substantially the revised foreign aid total, foreshadowed by the authorization bill passed by the House. Appropriation will come later.

But unexpended funds from previous appropriations are the complicating factor in budget balancing. Probable expenditures from these funds in the next 12 months were included in Truman's estimated deficit July 1, 1954, amounting to a sum just under total savings that now appear possible. The Truman deficit figure, however, was based on anticipated revenues of $68,665,000,000, which may be too high a figure, as has been claimed.

quarrel developed between the officer and young Wheatley. Caldarelli testified that young Wheatley grabbed the officer's shirt and tore it. He added that as he lead the youth to a police car the older Wheatley fired shots. In the exchange fire, Walter Leonhauser, 16, was wounded in the ankle.

Several days later, Wheatley, Sr., surrendered and was held in bail pending the outcome of Caldarelli's injury. The policeman was wounded in the abdomen and right leg.

The two defendants were represented at the hearing by J. Leslie Kilooyne, Bristol attorney. Neither testified, however.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1952,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 2—The United States will not have an adequate foreign trade program until the farm surplus problem is solved at home.

High price supports for farm products attract competing products from abroad and build up pressure for higher customs duties on imports. This in turn draws howls of anguish from foreign nations with surpluses of their own that cannot be sold abroad.

Farm prices in the U. S. on major commodities are at a mandatory 90 per cent of parity level and President Eisenhower is on record for eventual 100 per cent parity supports.

Many farm leaders believe the President is in error when he calls for 100 per cent price supports. By maintaining this position, the President, according to leaders of responsible farm organizations, will force the imposition of acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

The Board of Directors of the Michigan Farm Bureau, representing 58,000 farm families, has officially implored Congress to reinstitute a system of flexible price supports which was in effect in 1948. Under the current price support program for major farm products, mandatory 90 per cent parity will continue until July of 1954.

The Michigan Farm Bureau is convinced that a flexible support plan would serve as a brake on overproduction more effectively than acreage controls, which distress both the farmer and the Department of Agriculture.

The Michigan Farm Bureau resolution to Congress says in part: "High mandatory support programs are stimulating supply beyond consumptive demand at the mandated price. Mandatory rigid supports are building burdensome government-owned surpluses and preventing adjustments in production within the industry."

The loudest complaints against rigid support programs come from groups of cattlemen and feeders. A slight drop in feed prices would correct the nation's meat problem, beef growers are convinced. Producers, however, cling to the 90 per cent parity prices for their output. Farm surpluses of necessity then become both economic and political problems.

One of the farm problems inherited from the Truman Administration involves the selection of the parity base. Parity used to be based on the 1910-1914 price levels, but an alternative base was authorized later. Now the Department of Agriculture supports prices on the basis of whichever era results in the highest support figure. For instance, under the 1910-1914 parity base, cotton would be supported at 34 cents a pound. Under the new schedule it would be just under 33 cents, so the Agriculture Department pays at the higher rate.

The same applies to other farm products. Rice, for instance, was $5.00 per cwt. under the old schedule. Under the new base it is $5.35 per cwt. and that is the price where the government steps in. Corn is supported at $1.77 per bushel, the old parity price. The new price is $1.60 and cattle feeders say that if corn prices were allowed to drop to the new, lower level, their problems would be ended.

The Michigan Farm Bureau has a word of advice for the Republican Administration in its resolution of the parity problems. The bureau informed Congress that "a do-nothing policy, permitting mandatory 90 per cent supports to continue unabated until their expiration next year, portends serious economic and political consequences."

The bureau warned that continuation of the mandatory 90 per cent parity payments "presages defeat of the efforts of the Administration to return our agricultural economy to a free market, private enterprise basis."

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has the authority to impose acreage controls. There is a resolution passed by the House last week and now before the Senate, however, that seeks to trim the secretary's authority to reduce farm production. It was submitted to Congress by a wheat state farmer. It will be opposed by cattle state members. Benson will be forced to take a stand on the issue and when he does farmers in the nation will know what the new administration's farm program is going to be in the years ahead. Many hours of serious thinking are taking place at present in respect to huge surpluses piling up in government warehouses. It is Benson's biggest burden, shared by farmers, producers and foreign governments as well.

Newtown Cow

Completes Record

Reidina Arthur's Arabelle, five-year-old registered-Ayrshire in the Reidina Farm herd of Michael Reputano at Newtown has completed an actual production record of 13699 pounds of 4.4% milk and 596 pounds of butterfat in 305 days on a strictly twice-a-day milking schedule.

According to Chester C. Putney, executive secretary of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association, this record is equal to 13946 pounds of milk and 607 pounds of butterfat when figured to a Mature Equivalent basis. The record was made in accordance with the rules of the Ayrshire Herd Test Plan.

Letters to the Editor

(The Bristol Courier welcomes letters from readers. As evidence to good faith, please sign your letter. Your name will be omitted if you wish. No anonymous letters will be considered.)

To the Editor:

In reference to the present publications concerning "the polluted condition of Silver Lake, I am quite confident that I express the opinion of many in this letter.

If the old adage that "Everything comes out in the wash" be true, then the conditions that have caused (or are now causing) the pollution of these waters have not even, as yet, been put into the washer.

The Silver Lake area, having been built by the P. W. A. (Public Works Administration), therefore is public property and therefore subject to the care and consideration of the citizens of this State.

Even the smallest act of child or man tending toward the destruction of the usefulness of public or private property is, of necessity, subject to lawful censure.

Then to what degree should the citizens of Bristol Borough and Bristol Township demand the immediate clarification and "clean up" of the natural or human causes that have deprived thousands of what was a splendid summer recreational area paid for by their own tax money.

I say clarification, because to date, all we have read of is the word "polluted." The word polluted, meaning having been defiled or made impure, being understood, what then is polluting these waters? Who has contributed by means to their pollution?

One can hardly believe that any of our citizens are gullible enough in this day and age, when investigatory science can "put the finger" on anything, that the matter of these waters cannot be cleared up fully to the satisfaction of an aroused citizenry by now.

Let us not be led into a state of indifference by the fact that people, in an effort to find relief from summer heat, "do not believe in signs posted there" and continue to swim there. They are certainly not swimming amid signs, warning of pollution, in a relaxed frame of mind.

While others are building pools to provide areas for summer recreation; places for their children to learn to swim, our own once envied areas become useless.

Oh, you don't swim or go to the beach, anyway? What of your children? Where are they to learn to swim in safety now, when once they were under the watchful eyes of lifeguards at Silver Lake? We have every right to demand a clean swimming area, once again, where our children can learn to swim; it may save their very lives.

EDWARD P. McGLYNN.

How can women expect to gain the respect of mankind when they flaunt their un-Venus-like shapes before the strangers in the skimpiest of attire, or go to the other extreme and don jeans which may be utilitarian but don't present a very attractive picture?

DISGUSTED MALE

Swimming Pools Wanted

Dear Sir:

Because of the furore created by alleged pollution of local swimming holes, why doesn't Levitt & Son, builders of Levittown, rush to completion the other swimming pools scheduled at the newest community in Lower Bucks County?

The one swimming pool now in use at Levittown is far inadequate to serve the people these hot days. We need all four as planned by the builders, and we hope that Mr. Levitt will permit folks who are residents of this area, but not Levittowners, to continue to enjoy a dip in the pool. He has the blessings of all in Lower Bucks County and we wish to publicly thank him for his kindness in this respect.

But unexpended funds from previous appropriations are the complicating factor in budget balancing. Probable expenditures from these funds in the next 12 months were included in Truman's estimated deficit July 1, 1954, amounting to a sum just under total savings that now appear possible. The Truman deficit figure, however, was based on anticipated revenues of $68,665,000,000, which may be too high a figure, as has been claimed.

quarrel developed between the officer and young Wheatley. Caldarelli testified that young Wheatley grabbed the officer's shirt and tore it. He added that as he lead the youth to a police car the older Wheatley fired shots. In the exchange fire, Walter Leonhauser, 16, was wounded in the ankle.
Several days later, Wheatley, Sr., surrendered and was held in bail pending the outcome of Caldarelli's injury. The policeman was wounded in the abdomen and right leg.
The two defendants were represented at the hearing by J. Leslie Kilcoyne, Bristol attorney. Neither testified, however.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"
by Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, July 2 — The United States will not have an adequate foreign trade program until the farm surplus problem is solved at home. High price supports for farm products attract competing products from abroad and build up pressure for higher customs duties on imports. This in turn draws howls of anguish from foreign nations with surpluses of their own that cannot be sold abroad.
Farm prices in the U. S. on major commodities are at a mandatory 90 per cent of parity level and President Eisenhower is on record for eventual 100 per cent parity supports.
Many farm leaders believe the President is in error when he calls for 100 per cent price supports. By maintaining this position, the President, according to leaders of responsible farm organizations, will force the imposition of acreage allotments and marketing quotas.
The Board of Directors of the Michigan Farm Bureau, representing 58,000 farm families, has officially implored Congress to re-institute a system of flexible price supports which was in effect in 1948. Under the current price support program for major farm products, mandatory 90 per cent parity will continue until July of 1954.
The Michigan Farm Bureau is convinced that a flexible support plan would serve as a brake on over-production more effectively than acreage controls, which distress both the farmer and the Department of Agriculture.
The Michigan Farm Bureau resolution to Congress says in part: "High mandatory support programs are stimulating supply beyond consumptive demand at the mandated price. Mandatory rigid supports are building burdensome government-owned surpluses and preventing adjustments in production within the industry."
The loudest complaints against rigid support programs come from groups of cattlemen and feeders. A slight drop in feed prices would correct the nation's meat problem, beef growers are convinced. Producers, however, cling to the 90 per cent parity prices for their output. Farm surpluses of necessity then become both economic and political problems.
One of the farm problems inherited from the Truman Administration involves the selection of the parity base. Parity used to be based on the 1910-1914 price levels, but an alternative base was authorized later. Now the Department of Agriculture supports prices on the basis of whichever era results in the highest support figure. For instance, under the 1910-1914 parity base, cotton would be supported at 34 cents a pound. Under the new schedule it would be just under 33 cents, so the Agriculture Department pays at the higher rate.
The same applies to other farm products. Rice, for instance, was $5.00 per cwt. under the old schedule. Under the new base it is $5.36 per cwt. and that is the price where the government steps in. Corn is supported at $1.77 per bushel, the old parity price. The new price is $1.60 and cattle feeders say that if corn prices were allowed to drop to the new, lower level, their problems would be ended.
The Michigan Farm Bureau has a word of advice for the Republican Administration in its resolution of the parity problems. The bureau informed Congress that "a do-nothing policy, permitting mandatory 90 per cent supports to continue unabated until their expiration next year, portends serious economic and political consequences."
The bureau warned that continuation of the mandatory 90% parity payments "presages defeat of the efforts of the Administration to return our agricultural economy to a free market, private enterprise basis."
Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has the authority to impose acreage controls. There is a resolution passed by the House last week and now before the Senate, however, that seeks to trim the secretary's authority to reduce farm production. It was submitted to Congress by a wheat state farmer. It will be opposed by cattle state members. Benson will be forced to take a stand on the issue and when he does farmers in the nation will know what the new administration's farm program is going to be in the years ahead. Many hours of serious thinking are taking place at present in respect to huge surpluses piling up in government warehouses. It is Benson's biggest burden, shared by farmers, producers and foreign governments as well.

Newtown Cow Completes Record

Reidina Arthur's Arabelle, five-year-old registered Ayrshire in the Reidina Farm herd of Michael Repuano at Newtown has completed an actual production record of 13699 pounds of 4.4% milk and 595 pounds of butterfat in 305 days on a strictly twice-a-day milking schedule.
According to Chester C. Putney, executive secretary of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association, this record is equal to 13946 pounds of milk and 607 pounds of butterfat when figured to a Mature Equivalent basis. The record was made in accordance with the rules of the Ayrshire Herd Test Plan.

Letters to the Editor
(The Bristol Courier welcomes letters from readers. As evidence to good faith, please sign your letter. Your name will be omitted if you wish. No anonymous letters will be considered.)

To the Editor:
In reference to the present publications concerning the polluted condition of Silver Lake, I am quite confident that I express the opinion of many in this letter.
If the old adage that "Everything comes out in the wash" be true, then the conditions that have caused (or are now causing) the pollution of these waters have not even, as yet, been put into the washer.
The Silver Lake area, having been built by the P. W. A. (Public Works Administration), therefore is public property and therefore subject to the care and consideration of the citizens of this State.
Even the smallest act of child or man tending toward the destruction of the usefulness of public or private property is, of necessity, subject to lawful censure.
Then to what degree should the citizens of Bristol Borough and Bristol Township demand the immediate clarification and "clean up" of the natural or human causes that have deprived thousands of what was a splendid summer recreational area paid for by their own tax money.
I say clarification, because to date, all we have read of is the word "polluted." The word polluted, meaning having been degraded or made impure, being understood, what then is polluting these waters? Who has contributed by means to their pollution?
One can hardly believe that any of our citizens are glibly enough in this day and age, when investigatory science can "put the finger" on anything, that the matter of these waters cannot be cleared up fully to the satisfaction of an aroused citizenry by now.
Let us not be led into a state of indifference by the fact that people, in an effort to find relief from summer heat, "do not believe in signs posted there" and continue to swim there. They are certainly not swimming amid signs, warning of pollution, in a relaxed frame of mind.
While others are building pools to provide areas for summer recreation; places for their children to learn to swim, our own once envied areas become useless.
Oh, you don't swim or go to the beach, anyway? What of your children? Where are they to learn to swim in safety now, when once they were under the watchful eyes of lifeguards at Silver Lake? We have every right to demand a clean swimming area, once again, where our children can learn to swim; it may save their very lives.
EDWARD P. McGLYNN

Swimming Pools Wanted
Dear Sir:
Because of the furor created by alleged pollution of local swimming holes, why doesn't Levitt & Son, builders of Levittown, rush to completion the other swimming pools scheduled at the newest community in Lower Bucks County?
The one swimming pool now in use at Levittown is far inadequate to serve the people these hot days. We need all four as planned by the builders, and we hope that Mr. Levitt will permit folks who are residents of this area, but not Levittowners, to continue to enjoy a dip in the pool. He has the blessings of all in Lower Bucks County and we wish to publicly thank him for his kindness in this respect.

Raps Female Attire
I am not easily disturbed by other people's morals, but I must admit I'm becoming ashamed of our women folk when they have the indecency to appear in restaurants, stores and other public places in two-piece scanty garments which, to say the least, fail in any way to add lustre to their sex.
How can women expect to gain the respect of mankind when they flaunt their un-Venus-like shapes before the strangers in the skimpiest of attire, or go to the other extreme and don jeans which may be utilitarian but don't present a very attractive picture?

Congress Urged To 'Get Out' Of Gas Tax Field

HARRISBURG, (INS) — Pennsylvania Highways Secretary E. L. Schmidt this week urged Congress to get out of the gasoline tax field and leave the federal two-cent gas levy to local governments.

In testimony prepared for the House subcommittee on roads, Schmidt charged "that continued federal aid appropriations in their present form are a detriment to the highway development program of the majority of the states."

The Pennsylvania highways official said his stand is based on the fact that the 10 largest states represent 55 per cent of the U. S. population and pay 52 per cent of the federal gas tax but receive only 40 per cent of the taxes back from the government.

He said Pennsylvania spent $2,000,000 more in state money on roads in the two-year fiscal period just ended than had been received from the federal government in the past 24 years.

The Board further pointed out that rooming houses which are permitted under the ordinance must nevertheless comply with various other state and borough regulations.

In another decision rendered last night, the Zoning Board directed the zoning officer to issue a permit to Frances Luppino who wishes to use to second floor of premises at 907 Pear st. for a rooming-house. The permit was granted when testmony disclosed that although the property is located in a R-3 zone it had been used for 20-30 years for various commercial purposes.

A third decision granted a variance Leonard Felliconi, for erection of two signs at a diner at Route 13 and Bath st., in a R-1 Residential district.

Congress Urged To 'Get Out' Of Gas Tax Field

HARRISBURG, (INS) — Pennsylvania Highways Secretary E. L. Schmidt this week urged Congress to get out of the gasoline tax field and leave the federal two-cent gas levy to local governments.

In testimony prepared for the House subcommittee on roads, Schmidt charged "that continued federal aid appropriations in their present form are a detriment to the highway development program of the majority of the states."

The Pennsylvania highways official said his stand is based on the fact that the 10 largest states represent 55 per cent of the U. S. population and pay 52 per cent of the federal gas tax but receive only 40 per cent of the taxes back from the government.

He said Pennsylvania spent $2,000,000 more in state money on roads in the two-year fiscal period just ended than had been received from the federal government in the past 24 years.

All the "work" done by the burner is done by this single part. Nothing else moves. Nothing else wears. No complicated pressure pump (either high pressure or low pressure) is required to force the fuel oil through a pin-point atomizing nozzle. HOPE SEEN POLIO PREVENTION AND CURE

By DR. JAMES N. ROEBUCK

A recent issue of Life Magazine brings out the obvious relationship of the nervous system and the spine to the disease of Polio. It often called infantile paralysis. How Polio is spread, how it enters the body is not known. The same rules of elimination and isolation apply to it as to any other so-called epidemic diseases. Chiropractic has always maintained the necessity of a properly functioning nervous system in the prevention and cure of Polio. The virus of Polio can only thrive and do its damage on a spinal cord that has its resistance lowered by cord pressure. This is why the varied symptoms of Polio the stiff neck is the most consistent.

Injuries, even apparently minor ones, often leave their damaging effects on the spine. Early detection and correction of nerve irritations by a Chiropractor is vital to the probable prevention and cure of Polio.

FIRE BLAZE

CHICAGO — (INS) — Americans lose almost $800,000,000 a year in fires but almost half of this amount could be saved by better smoking habits and correct maintenance of heating and electrical equipment. man; Buckingham Township, in Buckingham Grange Hall, Durham Road, Buckingham; and Wrightstown Township, in the Methodist Episcopal Church annex, at Penns Park.

According to Robert F. Detweiler, clerk of the Commission, a corps of traveling registrars appointed by the Commission, will sit at various designated places in each of Bucks county's boroughs and townships, with the exception of Doylestown Borough and Township, during the registration period, daily, Saturdays and Sundays excluded. In the Doylestown Borough and Doylestown Township districts, residents will have access to the central registration office in the new Bucks County Courthouse Building, Monument Square, Doylestown.

Definite dates and places for the county-wide registration in Bucks county, will be advertised throughout the county's districts by means of placards and schedules that will be published weekly.

"The traveling registration project is aimed at the convenience of non-registered electors who want to become registered", Ernest H. Harvey, chief clerk of the Bucks County Commissioners, who is also chief of the registration commission, said today.

"The traveling registrars will also have with them for execution, removal notice cards from registered electors in Bucks county who have moved within their own district, or from district to district within the confines of Bucks county."

Other registration activities such as marriage affidavits and disability affidavits will also be executed by the registrars. All persons having moved into Bucks county from other counties and states, must be registered in Bucks county in order to be eligible to vote. Removal cards in such instances, will not suffice. The Registration Commission also announced today that under the provisions of the law, party changes may not be made until December 3, 1953.

HOPE SEEN POLIO PREVENTION AND CURE
By DR. JAMES N. ROEBUCK

A recent issue of Life Magazine brings out the obvious relationship of the nervous system and the spine to the disease of Polio. Often called infantile paralysis, how Polio is spread, how it enters the body is not known. The same rules of spinal alignment and isolation apply to it as to any other so-called epidemic disease. Chiropractic has always maintained the necessity of a properly functioning nervous system in the prevention and cure of Polio. The virus of Polio can only thrive and do its damage on a spinal cord that has its resistance lowered by cord pressure. This is why of the varied symptoms of Polio the stiff neck is the most consistent.

Injuries, even apparently minor ones often leave their damaging effects on the spine. Early detection and correction of nerve irritations by a Chiropractor is vital to the probable prevention and cure of Polio.

FIRE BLAME

CHICAGO — (INS) — Americans lose almost $800,000,000 a year in fires but almost half of this amount could be saved by better smoking habits and correct maintenance of heating and electrical equipment. James S. Kemper, a leading Chicago insurance executive, blamed 30 per cent of all fires on faulty wiring or heating conditions and 20 per cent on careless disposal of cigarettes and matches.

man; Buckingham Township, in Buckingham Grange Hall, Durham Road, Buckingham; and Wrightstown Township, in the Methodist Episcopal Church annex, at Penns Park.

According to Robert F. Detweiler, clerk of the Commission, a corps of traveling registrars appointed by the Commission, will sit at various designated places in each of Bucks county's boroughs and townships, with the exception of Doylestown Borough and Township, during the registration period, daily, Saturdays and Sundays excluded. In the Doylestown Borough and Doylestown Township districts, residents will have access to the central registration office in the new Bucks County Courthouse Building, Monument Square, Doylestown.

Definite dates and places for the county-wide registration in Bucks county, will be advertised throughout the county's districts by means of placards and schedules that will be published weekly.

"The traveling registration project is aimed at the convenience of non-registered electors who want to become registered", Ernest H. Harvey, chief clerk of the Bucks County Commissioners, who is also chief of the registration commission, said today.

"The traveling registrars will also have with them for execution, removal notice cards from registered electors in Bucks county who have moved within their own district, or from district to district within the confines of Bucks county."

Other registration activities such as marriage affidavits and disability affidavits will also be executed by the registrars. All persons having moved into Bucks county from other counties and states, must be registered in Bucks county in order to be eligible to vote. Removal cards in such instances, will not suffice.

The Registration Commission also announced today that under the provisions of the law, party changes may not be made until December 3, 1953.

NERVE GASES
NEW YORK — (INS) — A medical expert says that nerve and mustard gases, affecting the respiratory system, are most likely to be used in chemical warfare against the civilian population of the United States. Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Ralph E. Proud, Jr.
Pastor
Bristol Methodist Church

Jesus one-time speaking to those who would follow him said, "Ye are my witnesses."

This is to say, those who believe in Christ and seek to follow him plead, as it were, his cause before the bar of the human race. It is of course true that God will bring his victory regardless of what men do. But it also follows that with good witnesses the Cause is by that much furthered. This a great responsibility for those who name His name. It is for them also a source of great joy.

To be sure, being human, we sometimes fall short. Sometime and in some places by our actions we even harm the Cause. But I am sure that more good has been done for the Kingdom of God by those who name his name and pledge their allegiance to his cause than the world has ever dreamed of — and this in spite of their weaknesses.

The excuse that there are some misled persons in the church is a very poor one when given as the reason for non-interest in the things of the Kingdom. We will be judged, not by what our brother does when it is not the result of our own action but by what we do ourselves. The cause of Christ needs supporters but not one half as much as people need Christ.

Jesus one-time reminded us that we should be more concerned about our own fault before we talk over much of those of our brothers. I expect most of us, if the truth were known, have enough of our own to contend with.

Christ offers full and abundant life to those who would follow him. The field is wide open for witnesses to His truth. Like Paul who counted all things as less than nothing for the glory of God seen in the face of Jesus, to give yourself as an active witness in His kingdom is reward beyond all your expectation.

The door is ever open to living this life in this new dimension. The words of the old hymn "Whosoever will may come," are still as true as ever.

This group of officers, area chairman, and committee chairman, will be known as the executive board of the auxiliary. Each area elects its own officers. The president of each unit serves on the executive board as an area chairman, thus having the unit's own selection to represent it on the executive board. The relationship between hospital and community is one of interdependence. The basic purpose of an Auxiliary is three-fold: Public relations, volunteer service and fund raising.

A spokesman for the hospital said today: "An auxiliary is a group of normal, intelligent women who know their hospital. With this knowledge they can interpret their hospital to the community and the community to the hospital. They are ambassadors of good will, which provides an avenue for the hospital to tell its story, history, services, and needs to the general public. . . . Today, groups of women organized in voluntary association to serve hospitals are more than ever before, an important force in interpreting the hospital to the community. One of the greatest problems facing the voluntary hospital today is that of personnel shortage. The auxiliary member can do much about filling that need.

"There must continually be fund raising. In growing communities new wings must be added, new equipment is always needed, furnishings need replacing, provisions must be made for the unfortunates."

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Ralph E. Proud, Jr., Pastor
Bristol Methodist Church

Jesus one-time speaking to those who would follow him said, "Ye are my witnesses."

This is to say, those who believe in Christ and seek to follow him plead, as it were, his cause before the bar of the human race. It is of course true that God will bring his victory regardless of what men do. But it also follows that with good witnesses the Cause is by that much furthered. This is a great responsibility for those who name His name. It is for them also a source of great joy.

To be sure, being human, we sometimes fail short. Sometime and in some places by our actions we even harm the Cause. But I am sure that more good has been done for the Kingdom of God by those who name his name and pledge their allegiance to his cause than the world has ever dreamed of — and this in spite of their weaknesses.

The excuse that there are some misled persons in the church is a very poor one when given as the reason for non-interest in the things of the Kingdom. We will be judged, not by what our brother does when it is not the result of our own action but by what we do ourselves. The cause of Christ needs supporters but not one half as much as people need Christ.

Jesus one-time reminded us that we should be more concerned about our own fault before we talk over much of those of our brothers. I expect most of us, if the truth were known, have enough of our own to contend with.

Christ offers full and abundant life to those who would follow him. The field is wide open for witnesses to His truth. Like Paul who counted all things as less than nothing for the glory of God seen in the face of Jesus, to give yourself as an active witness in His kingdom is reward beyond all your expectation.

The door is ever open to living this life in this new dimension. The words of the old hymn "Whosoever will may come," are still as true as ever.

Auto Boys Top Kaiser Metal, 5-3, At Memorial Park

Despite a triple play by Kaiser Metal, the Auto Boys team won its tenth straight game of the Bristol Softball League, defeating the aircraft workers, 5-3, last evening on Memorial field.

The three-play killing occurred in the eighth. Bill Wigham, Johnny Frank, and Joe Pesci were on base for the Mill Streeters. Ray Pierandozzi hit a hopper to Jim Sottile whose throw to the plate got Wigham easily. For no reason at all, Frank failed to move from second so Frank Barbetta threw back to Sottile to force him at third.

In the meantime, Pesci had failed to break for second and when he did Sottile threw to Stockton who trapped the runner between first and second. Stockton then threw and hit Pesci in the back with the ball. Ray Pierandozzi suddenly broke for second and passed Pesci on the base path, being declared out for doing so.

It was the tenth mound win for the undefeated Bill Wigham. George Wallace was the losing pitcher. He was relieved by Vince DiMucce in the sixth.

Fred Costantino had four hits for Auto Boys while Frank Barbetta paced Kaiser Metal with two out of four.

In the last half of the ninth, Horace Saxton made a sensational catch of Jim Sottile's line drive which was labelled for a home run.

St. Ann's A. A. Blanks Kaiser, 1-0, to Take Lead

Henry Schurr pitched his second no-run no-hit game of the Little-Bigger League season last evening as St. Ann's A. A. blanked Kaiser Metal, 1-0, in the best game of the season. The triumph increased the St. Ann's lead on first place to two full games.

Schurr fanned fourteen batters to average two per inning. He walked but three batters, two of whom died attempting to steal. In all, only 22 batters faced the fast-ball St. Ann's hurler.

Jim Thompson pitched for Kaiser Metal and hurled well enough to win an ordinary game as he allowed but three hits and struck out nine. He walked but one batter and this led to the lone marker.

Patty Dougherty provided the winning base knock, a long triple to center in the first. Sembrot had walked and after Trasatti struck out, VanWright forced Sembrot. Dougherty then walloped his three-bagger to win the game with the solitary tally of the match.

Dougherty also singled in the sixth while the only other hit was a triple by Mancuso in the fourth.

Ray Pierandozzi hit a hopper to Jim Sottile whose throw to the plate got Wigham easily. For no reason at all, Frank failed to move from second so Frank Barbetta threw back to Sottile to force him at third.

In the meantime, Pesci had failed to break for second and when he did Sottile threw to Stockton who trapped the runner between first and second. Stockton then threw and hit Pesci in the back with the ball. Ray Pierandozzi suddenly broke for second and passed Pesci on the base path, being declared out for doing so.

It was the tenth mound win for the undefeated Bill Wigham. George Wallace was the losing pitcher. He was relieved by Vince DiMuccie in the sixth.

Fred Constantino had four hits for Auto Boys while Frank Barbetta paced Kaiser Metal with two out of four.

In the last half of the ninth, Morace Saxton made a sensational catch of Jim Sottile's line drive which was labelled for a home run.

St. Ann's A. A. Blanks Kaiser, 1-0, to Take Lead

Henry Schurr pitched his second no-run no-hit game of the Little-Bigger League season last evening as St. Ann's A. A. blanked Kaiser Metal, 1-0, in the best game of the season. The triumph increased the St. Ann's lead on first place to two full games.

Schurr fanned fourteen batters to average two per inning. He walked but three batters, two of whom died attempting to steal. In all, only 22 batters faced the fast-ball St. Ann's hurler.

Jim Thompson pitched for Kaiser Metal and hurled well enough to win an ordinary game as he allowed but three hits and struck out nine. He walked but one batter and this led to the lone marker.

Patty Dougherty provided the winning base knock, a long triple to center in the first. Sembrat had walked and after Trasatti struck out, VanWright forced Sembrat.

Dougherty then walloped his three-bagger to win the game with the solitary tally of the match.

Dougherty also singled in the sixth while the only other hit was a triple by Mancuso in the fourth.

Two home runs were made in the Bristol Little League game between the V. F. W. and Hawks teams last evening on the Rohm and Haas field. The Hawks were victorious, 5-4, by scoring in the fifth frame.

The four base knocks were made by Frank Williams, of the winners, and Dom Rago, of VFW. Williams' blow knotted the count at the time, 5-5. Rago's smash put the Vets in the lead in the third inning.

Williams was the winning pitcher with Becker being the loser. Williams and Dugan made the four Hawks' hits while the losers had five with Dougherty getting two.

Plants, Shrubs Still Need Water; Weather 'Dry'

The wet spring has misled many thousands of home owners into believing that plants around the home do not require artificial watering during June. The American Association of Nurserymen reports. Warning that the weather has turned very dry in June all over the east and as far west as Illinois, the association urges home owners to water their shrubs and trees copiously now and throughout the summer.

Light rains are insufficient, it is stated, the soil needs to be soaked by allowing the hose to run until the ground is thoroughly wet at the roots of all plants. Newly planted shrubs and trees are more susceptible to damage from drought than those which have been established for several years and they should be given special attention, but all plants should be watered thoroughly. The association advises home owners to soak their plants thoroughly at least once or twice a week, depending on their need and the amount of natural rain. Not only will this keep the plants growing well, but, in the case of flowering shrubs, it will make them flower more and better both this year and next.

United States of America entered World War I. on Apr. 6, 1917.

Legislative Shifts Seen Failure In Prison vs. Politics

HARRISBURG, (INS) — A Pennsylvania Prison Society official said recently proposed legislative changes in the penal system would not accomplish the desired goal of taking prisons "out of politics".

Secretary Edmund G. Burbank said bills now before the General Assembly leave the administrator in what he called a political cross-fire.

The bills were drawn from a voluminous report submitted by the Governor's special prisons committee, headed by retired Army Gen. Jacob L. Devers. The group spent three months studying ways of improving prisons as a result of January riots at Rockview and Western Penitentiaries.

Reduce Local Boards

One of the major recommendations was reduction of local boards of trustees from complete administrative control to advisory capacity with overall administration centered in a state official.

As drawn, the bill creates a Commissioner of Corrections but major administrative policy would be shared with boards of trustees.

The Governor would be authorized to distribute powers and duties between the commissioner and trustees. The bill adds that such distribution "need not be uniform or applicable to all institutions."

8 Institutions

There are eight institutions with separate boards of trustees.

"How could politics be kept out of prisons administration with this sort of arrangement?" asked Burbank.

"Local administrative boards are a handicap to overall improvement," he stated, but pointed out that their abolition would be "pretty powerful political medicine."

Burbank predicted the State would have difficulty finding a capable penologist to serve as a commissioner subject to political interference from both above and below.

Importation of slaves into United States was banned Jan. 1, 1808.

The first national election was held Jan. 7, 1789.

Lewis, and Christian Hagen.

Staging nights are July 15, 17, 18.

The Washington monument was dedicated Feb. 21, 1885.

GARDEN NOTES

by Walter W. Plizonka, Jr.

Many requests have been received asking what summer care should be given house plants. The answer is simply to put them outside in the soil, pot and all. Most of the plants prefer partial shade. Some plants such as geranium and calla will do better in full sun. However, African violets should not be removed to the outside but should be put in the north window of the house away from open window drafts. These house plants may be enjoyed outdoors in the summer and then come October 1st, they are brought inside. At this time, such plants as gardenia and fuchsia may be transplanted into larger pots.

Do you have any arborvitae trees or any close relatives? If you do, check these trees for the presence of bag worms. These insects live in a bag which is a web bag covered with the foliage. If these insects go unchecked, they will completely defoliate your entire tree in only a few days. A good eradication is "hand picking" these creatures. Another control is spraying or dusting the foliage with an arsenical compound. This is eaten along with the foliage and stomach poisoning soon occurs.

The tops of the flowering bulbs should be all dried out by this time. It is then safe to dig these bulbs if you want their location changed, and plant them again this fall. Storage of these bulbs over the summer should be made in a dry, dark, and cool place. Cut the tops back before storing, and examine for the presence of any insects. If insects are discovered, dust the bulbs with a 5 or 10% DDT dust.

Chrysanthemums should be starting to form flower buds. These, of course, won't open until this fall sometime. A wise suggestion would be to remove these flower buds until around August 1st. By removing the buds, the plant is forced to branch out and form an all around bushy, healthy plant. The more these are trimmed until August, the heavier the crop of flowers this fall.

If you find time between the heat waves, put some mulch around your tomato plants. The mulch of peat moss or hay will keep the fruit from making contact with the ground where rotting first occurs. Mulching should be done to a depth of about two inches. These two inches help prevent the loss of water through the soil surface. Weed control is maintained easier with the mulch around the plants. The few weeds that do get through the mulch can easily be picked out by hand. All in all, a mulch pays for itself time and again through the benefits it delivers.

In closing, let me remind you to get busy with the crabgrass and apply that good weed killer. Apply while the crabgrass seedlings are young and easily killed. A good time to do this controlling is over the holiday weekend.

Better get out to my own crabgrass now and start to work. See you next week and remember to enjoy your gardening over the holiday.

GARDEN NOTES

by Walter W. Pitzonka, Jr.

Many requests have been received asking what summer care should be given house plants. The answer is simply to put them outside in the soil, pot and all. Most of the plants prefer partial shade. Some plants such as geranium and calla will do better in full sun. However, African violets should not be removed to the outside but should be put in the north window of the house away from open window drafts. These house plants may be enjoyed outdoors in the summer and then come October 1st, they are brought inside. At this time, such plants as geranium and fuchsia may be transplanted into larger pots.

Do you have any arborvitae trees or any close relatives? If you do, check these trees for the presence of bag worms. These insects live in a bag which is a web bag covered with the foliage. If these insects go unchecked, they will completely defoliate your entire tree in only a few days. A good eradication is "hand picking" these creatures. Another control is spraying or dusting the foliage with an arsenical compound. This is eaten along with the foliage and stomach poisoning soon occurs.

The tops of the flowering bulbs should be all dried out by this time. It is then safe to dig these bulbs if you want their location changed, and plant them again this fall. Storage of these bulbs over the summer should be made in a dry, dark, and cool place. Cut the tops back before storing, and examine for the presence of any insects. If insects are discovered, dust the bulbs with a 5 or 10% DDT dust.
